Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, Judge Thomas H. Saunders, who has been a constant sufferer since his fall down the steps of the Masonic hall a few months ago, passed away at his home on west Thirteenth street. Judge Saunders was one of the early settlers of this locality, coming to Columbus in 1871 on his way to Polk county, where he settled, and has since been identified with the growth and advancement of this locality. Judge Saunders was born in Troy, N. Y., April 2, 1837. Here he grew to manhood and September 27, 1858, was married to Mary E. Hayner. He was a carriage maker by trade and this followed until the outbreak of the civil war, when he enlisted as a private in Company F 2nd New York Infantry. He served through the war until near the close, when he was wounded in the thigh, the effects of which he never recovered from. After the war he again worked at his trade, but on account of his wound his health would not permit it, and he and his wife then moved on a farm near Troy, where they resided until 1871. He concluded to take Greeley's advice and go west and in 1871 landed in Columbus, where he remained until the pontoon bridge across the Loup was put in, when he moved to Polk county and became a settler in the then new county. After residing in Polk county until 1876, he moved to Butler county, and then to David City, and later returned again to Polk county. He was elected county judge of Polk county in 1885 and afterwards read law and was admitted to the bar. Several years ago Judge Saunders purchased the home on Thirteenth street, and concluded to make this city his permanent home. In politics Judge Saunders was always a staunch republican and a few years ago was a candidate for state senator from this and Colfax counties. In all Nebraska there was not probably another more active or enthusiastic Mason—in fact he was attending a Masonic meeting the evening he fell down the stairs and received injuries which ultimately caused his death. The judge was also affiliated with the Methodist church and was a prominent member of that denomination. In spite of his advanced age, the judge had a wonderful memory. One of the largest papers in Troy, which was his native city almost forty years ago, had a column of "Troy fifty years ago," and this was gotten up by Mr. Saunders at Columbus and sent to the paper each week. He was able to recall the incidents of his younger days with such accuracy that his column was one of the features of the eastern paper. Besides his aged wife, Judge Saunders leaves a son, who is mail clerk on the Omaha and Chadron line, and a daughter, Mrs. Jarmin, of this city. Arrangements for the funeral have been completed and the services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m., and be under the auspices of the Masons and Odd Fellows, he being a member of both orders.

From about 9:30 in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon Thursday, the thirty-five cars participating in the Glidden tour passed through this city, stopping at the Columbus Automobile company's garage, where they were supplied with a total of four hundred gallons of gasoline. The first car to arrive was the pilot car, which made the run from Council Bluffs in a little over three hours and a half. The balance of the cars followed at intervals until the last car, which was the press car and contained the representatives of papers as follows, the car being driven by Jean McIntosh. The Boston American was represented by John C. Garrison, J. O. Clinton representing the Morgan & Wright people, P. W. Williams of the Postal Telegraph, Will S. Gilbert of the Cleveland Plaindealer and T. J. Sullivan of the Buffalo Evening News, who was manager of the publicity department of the tour. The press cars towed in the Chalmers-Detroit car No. 3, which had been a crank shaft near Benton and was unable to proceed, and the car was shipped back to the factory last week. Many of those who accompanied the automobilists had never been in this section of the country before, and were much surprised at the development of the country, and also the splendid roads over which they had traveled since coming into the state. Especially were the roads east of the city, which had been looked after by the Columbus Automobile Club, in splendid condition. The cars left this city for the run to Kearney and finish up the balance of the Omaha-Kearney run, which was the next longest one on the schedule, in good season, but they were considerably delayed by getting stuck in the mud hole near Silver Creek. Later reports from the tour told of the burning of the confetti car west of Julesburg and also of an accident to the press car near Denver, when the latter broke through a bridge. This car was one of the heaviest in the bunch, being an eight horse power Studebaker. While this is the first tour ever made in the west, it is safe to say that it will not be the last, as all the members of the tour expressed themselves more than pleased with the country and were generous in their praise of it.

After the races the Ohantauqua will be held, and the dates are August 8 to 15 inclusive. The committee have succeeded in selling the required tickets, and Columbus will have one of the best programs this year that will be presented in the state. Columbus people are anticipating this treat and no doubt there will be many from outside of the city attend part or all of the week.
Wednesday morning the condition of venerable C. A. Speice, who has been quite low for some time, was such that his death was a matter of days, and probably hours. Telegrams were sent to absent relatives, calling them to this city. Since the death of his wife, Mr. Speice, who has been bed fast for several years, has been gradually growing weaker, and for the last week has taken scarcely any nourishment.
Last week E. A. Harms, residing north of this city, closed a deal for the purchase of the Nebraska Biene from Henry Wilckens and took charge of the paper Monday morning. Mr. Harms is not new in the newspaper business, having been connected with a newspaper in Germany before coming to this country. Mr. Kinder will remain with the paper, and Mr. Harms will move to town and devote his entire attention to the Biene. The paper will remain where it is, and there will be no other changes. Mr. Wilckens retires from the management and ownership of the paper in order to devote his attention to other interests.

With the best and fastest string of horses ever gotten together in Nebraska for a race meet, the opening day of the Columbus races turned out rainy and bad. Sunday's rain made the track heavy and the sun did not show itself to dry up the mud. There was some hopes Tuesday morning that the weather would clear, but it became evident before noon that there would be no racing on that date, and announcement of this was made by the management. But Wednesday morning the skies cleared, and at once a large force of men were placed on the tracks to put them in condition for the remainder of the week. And in addition to this the management at once made arrangements to include Saturday in the dates, for with this they are still compelled to pull off a full four day program in three days. And in addition to this, they made arrangements for their special train Saturday evening. All races schedules will be pulled off and the additional program for each day will make the races for the three days very much better than was anticipated.

Democratic Convention.
Plenty of oil, a smooth running machine in hands used to its operation, and practically nothing to fight for, turned the democratic county convention, held Monday afternoon at the court house, into a love feast.
Twenty-one out of the twenty-three voting places were represented and when the credential committee reported they recommended the list of delegates sent in by the various townships, and there was not even a promise of a contest. While the credential committee were out Edgar Howard, C. M. Gruenther, D. L. Bruen, John Gibson and others expounded good democratic doctrine, and the proper organization of the county was also one of the main topics—and this is a topic the republicans can profitably study up on.
H. W. Luedtke of Creston presided over the deliberations of the convention and John Foley of Lindsay was secretary. Before the state delegation, which was selected by a committee consisting of one delegate from each township, was named, a resolution was passed endorsing Judge Sullivan's candidacy for the supreme bench. The committee reported the following list of delegates and they were ratified by the convention:
First ward—Fred Plath

Republican County Convention.
Monday afternoon the first republican convention for Platte county, held under the new primary law, was called to order by chairman Dickinson. J. G. Lost Creek—Edwin Hoare, Chris Martenson, W. L. Smith, Ed Luesienksi.
The committee recommended that E. F. Maedel and Jacob Schmid represent Butler township and that Henry Blaser represent Loup township, and the report was adopted by the convention.
Will Lawrence of Grand Prairie was present at the convention, and on motion he was selected to represent that township.
While the committee on credentials were out W. H. Robbins, the republican candidate of sheriff, addressed the convention, and there were also short talks by others.
After the report of the committee on credentials had been adopted, the convention, on motion, changed the order of the call, which was then read, and proceeded to elect a county chairman. E. S. Dickinson and Frank Schram were nominated and Mr. Dickinson was elected chairman.
Mr. Dickinson thanked the convention for the honor in a few well chosen remarks.
After his re-election as chairman of the county central committee, Mr. Dickinson began to take an active part in the running of the convention. The republican machine and boss rule, which Mr. Dickinson had been denouncing so loudly, were very much in evidence, only Mr. Dickinson took the role of boss and the machine was his. When the motion to elect the state delegation was carried Mr. Dickinson was on his feet in an instant and proceeded to read the list of twelve delegates in a matter of fact way and moved they be selected to attend the state convention. The motion was seconded and before anyone could suggest any changes, if they wished to, was put and carried. It was machine and boss politics, even if it was rather crude but it went just the same.
Delegates to state convention—D. G. Bartels, Albert Seivers, C. H. Sheldon, W. A. McAllister, J. W. Appgar, Paul Gertsch, C. J. Garlow, C. Martensen, T. F. Wilson, E. Bargman, D. H. Gipe and R. S. Dickinson.
But when the county central committee was being named the machine slipped a cog, and the original intention of allowing the convention as a whole to select the committeemen, did not go through.
It seems that some of those at the convention were inclined to construe the new law to mean that in the selection of the county committeemen, the precinct should name their men, and the convention could either select or reject them. When the calling of the wards for naming committeemen was commenced, it was suggested that each township name their committeemen and let the convention ratify them as a whole, but Chairman Dickinson insisted that each committeeman should be elected or rejected and the convention elect or reject him. When the Fourth ward was reached, delegate Frank Schram strenuously objected to this method of selecting the central committee, claiming that each precinct and ward was entitled to name their own committeemen. It took but a second to discover that the convention was against Mr. Dickinson's plan of naming the committee, and several delegates, supposed to be friendly to the chairman were waiting to get the floor to enter their protest against boss rule, when a motion to have the township select their own committeemen was put and carried unanimously. The following committee was then named:

First ward—J. A. Ernst
Second ward—Isaac Brock
Third ward—D. Thomas
Fourth ward—F. J. Gerhars
Columbus Township—John Lueschen
Bismark—D. G. Bartels
Sherman—R. H. Wardenman
Creston—R. B. Webb
Humphrey—J. G. Cochran
Grand Prairie—Wm. Hoeffelmann, jr.
Shell Creek—John Grossnicklaus
Oconee, Oconee Voting Place—W. H. Moore.
Oconee—Monroe Voting Place—Ohas Watts.
Lost Creek—Law Hoare
Burrows—F. P. Lamb
Granville—F. M. Cookingham
St. Bernard—P. A. Carlson
Joliet—I. N. Jones
Monroe—Paul Gertsch
Walker—Alfred Anderson
Woodville—J. W. Appgar
Loup—Ed Meedel
Butler—Henry Blaser.
A committee on resolutions, composed of Hugh Hughes, E. C. Halm, W. M. Cornelius, C. E. Wagner and L. Franklin, reported the following resolutions, which were adopted by the convention:
Resolved by the republicans of Platte county:
I. That we reaffirm our faith in the principles enunciated by the last National convention.
II. That we appreciate and confirm the courageous stand of our President in the demand that the party pledge for lowering the tariff duties be fulfilled.
III. That we favor the early ratification of the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution authorizing the levying of a tax upon incomes.
Whereas, The month of July is the most critical time with the farmer, and as the farmers form the majority part of our party.
Therefore, be it resolved, That we, the republican electors of Platte county in delegate convention assembled, ask the state convention to instruct the state central committee to issue the call for the state convention for 1910 and succeeding years as early as the first week in June.
The republicans of Platte county heartily endorse the course of our Senators, Burkett and Brown, and especially do we appreciate the splendid stand taken by them upon the pending tariff legislation in insisting that the tariff should be revised downward on the necessities of life.
The following resolution, which reads between the lines, and would have meant that the convention took a stand on the fight over the Columbus post office, met with so much opposition in the committee, that it was buried and the convention did not even hear of it.
That we condemn the constant efforts of Federal officials and employes to control our party council to serve their own selfish ends and we demand the enforcement of the rules against such conduct.

Up to Mr. Dickinson.
Do away with dirty politics was the slogan of the present powers that be in the county republican organization, when they commenced their fight for control a year ago. They promised the republican voters of the county that they would conduct clean campaigns, and on the strength of this they were given control, and R. S. Dickinson, practically the leader of the movement, was selected chairman of the county central committee. Mr. Dickinson was quite profuse in his charges of dirty politics, made against the former chairman, although so far he has failed to prove a single one of them, and the county at large had faith in him. But this year he thought he was in a tight pinch and what did he do?
About a year ago Chairman Dan Stephens of the democratic congressional committee in this Third district, while acting in such capacity, promoted the candidacy of Congressman Latta as against Edgar Howard, and his position as chairman of the committee gave it such weight that Latta won a walk. He went so far as to arouse the ire of a large number of the democratic papers, until he was finally nicknamed "Dirty Dan." This year Chairman Dickinson of the county central committee followed practically the same tactics, and in addition to sending out circulars, had the same article printed in his personal organ, attacking Postmaster Kramer and mis-stating facts, as will be shown later, but in the circulars or article he followed the style of Stevens and did affix his title as chairman, but everyone knew that he held that position, it did not make any difference.
Now as to the circular he sent out. The main point in it which was intended to be brought out was that Mr. Kramer was disloyal to Congressman McCarthy at the Fremont convention in 1906, and also stated that the control of the republican organization in Platte county was gained that year by throwing over McCarthy. The untruth has been circulated in various forms ever since that convention for the purpose of injuring Mr. Kramer, and there have been variations to it, including the statement of Mr. Dickinson while the primary was going to the effect that Mr. Kramer was not loyal to McCarthy.
It is time this story was put at rest,

ARE YOU HOT?
OUR TALCUM POWDER will cool you and Its fragrant odor will please you WE HAVE All Kinds All Odors See our window

POLLOCK & CO.
The Druggist on the Corner Columbus, Nebraska and the facts stated above are correct and Mr. Dickinson or anyone else who can disprove them will be made a present of $100 by Mr. Kramer.

That year Congressman McCarthy secured the post office site for this city, and in the Third ward the delegates to the county convention were pledged to him and resolutions endorsed in favor of him. Mr. Kramer was a member of this delegation. But when the county convention met the majority were not for McCarthy, as they had a perfect right to be, and the Third ward delegates knew this, but to show their good faith to McCarthy they went so far as to ask the convention to endorse him, and Mr. Kramer was instrumental in having the resolutions introduced in the convention, and the Third ward delegation voted solidly for them, but they were defeated by the convention by a vote of better than two to one. The delegation to the congressional convention from the Platte county convention was unopposed. But those men who were for McCarthy did more than they could have been expected to under ordinary circumstances. They secured ten of Platte county's fifteen votes in the congressional convention and voted them for McCarthy. Mr. Kramer's vote was one of these. When the roll call was completed Judge Boyd lacked a half of a vote of nomination. A vote was changed and Judge Boyd was nominated. Platte county's ten votes, with Mr. Kramer's, were still recorded for McCarthy. Two counties changed their votes, over twenty, to Judge Boyd, giving him an overwhelming majority, and still Platte county's ten votes, of which Mr. Kramer's was one, were recorded for Mr. McCarthy, and there they remained until, out of courtesy, Judge Boyd's nomination was made unanimous.
Now, Mr. Dickinson can either demand the $100 offered by Mr. Kramer or else admit that the circular sent out was untrue. Which will he do?
